Incentive payments for ex-Regulars

As an ex-Regular you can get up to £10,000 on top of the tax-free bounty (paid on meeting your minimum annual commitment) and your Army Reserve salary.

You could get:

- £2,000 on approval by the CO of your Army Reserve unit
- £3,000 after completing your first year full training commitment
- £3,000 after completing your second year full training commitment
- £2,000 after completing your third year full training commitment

To be eligible you must meet these conditions:

- You must have completed at least four years Regular service with the rank of Captain or below
- You must join the Army Reserve after 1st January 2014
- You must have left the Regular Army no more than six years before enlisting in the Army Reserve
- You must have applied for and be capable of employment in a post approved by an Army Reserve unit CO
- You must be Medically Fully Deployable (MFD) or Medically Limited Deployable (MLD)

Incentive payments for new entrants

You will get these extra payments on top of your tax-free bounty (paid on meeting your annual minimum commitment) and your Army Reserve salary:

- £300 when you're accepted on to training
- £1,000 when you complete your Phase 1 training
- £1,000 when you complete your Phase 2 training
