

News from the Seaforth Highlanders Regimental Association (Ross-shire) branch

On Saturday, 2nd August The Seaforth Highlanders Regimental Association (Ross-shire) branch will be launching a re-print of the "Ross-shire Roll of Honour".

This was originally published in 1915 and is crammed full of information about individuals, from Ross-shire and further afield, who answered their country's call early on in WW1.

In particular, the No, Rank, Name, Address and Occupation of the original 1/4th Seaforth Highlanders are shown as well as details of the personnel of the Ross Mountain Battery and those who were in the Royal Navy and Royal Naval Reserve.

An original copy of this scare book now costs in the region of £60-£100 depending on its condition.

From 2nd August 2014 the re-print can be obtained, in person, for just £10 or £14 by post from both The Dingwall Museum or The Highlanders Museum.

A complimentary copy of this book is being presented to each of the sponsors and every Primary and Secondary School in Ross-shire.

This being an aid to schools' studies of WW1 but pupils may also use it to research their ancestors who are mentioned in the book.

Only a limited number were re-printed and your are advised to contact either of the Museums if you wish to secure a copy.

If you do decide to purchase one I am sure you will find it a most interesting and informative read.
